Tishiba Phillips was born and raised in the Englewood neighborhood on the south side of Chicago. Where she grew up around gang banging, drug dealers, and violence. She knew she had to beat the statistics of being a at risk youth. After graduating from William R Harper High school in 1997, Shiba gave birth to her first born the following year and married her husband now of 14 years. Both knowing they wanted a better lifestyle and environment for their family, they decided to start going to church as a family. They accepted Christ and joined H.G.D.C Church. And moved to the south suburbs. This is when Shiba started to grow into the realization of her purpose. Shiba found her entrepreneurial spirit; she always had a heart to help others not knowing that this very thing God would use her for in ministry. When God gave her husband a vision to help and mentor inner city youth she knew she had to be apart.

Having children of her own and being the youth leader of her church she knew this too was also apart of her destiny. To help guide these young people into building up hope, love, and a to have a chance at life. Shiba is also a successful business owner of a Hair Salon called B-Revealed Hair Studio Inc., located in the South Suburbs of Chicago. She now has three beautiful children and one on the way within her union. Together, with her husband and others hope to make a change not only in the world but also in the kingdom.

Shiba extends her vast business knowledge to a wider range of volunteer and charitable causes. Shiba loves to teach, she has taught at Paul Mitchell the Beauty School and also likes to teach young adults how to reach their full potential in life.
